

MP officiates at Further Ed opening

Beaver River Member of Parliament Deborah Grey wielded the scissors at Monday evening's Grand Opening of the Elk Point and District Further Education Council's new home, as the Council's Chairman Jim Hawkins, Vice Chairman Laverne Wilson, charter member Anne Kates and Alberta Advanced Education's Rollie Saville held the scarlet ceremonial ribbon.

The building was ringed with well-wishers, and decorated with the products of numerous Further Ed courses for the occasion, which marked a great accomplishment for the sixteen-year-old Council. Prior to the move to the relocatable building supplied by the Department of Public Works, Further Ed spent twelve years in a miniscule office in the Community Services Centre, with courses offered in a classroom which at times, was shared with other groups and necessitated packing up projects after each session to make room for other occupants. The move was made necessary when the classroom was needed, along with the balance of the building, to house students while the Elk Point Elementary School was remodeled.

Mayor Bruce Kleeberger took time out from Monday's Town Council meeting to bring good wishes from the Town. He noted that while Further Education had been displaced by the school reconstruction, they have a much more permanent and adequate facility now. He expressed a hope that when the new Community Services Centre, now in the planning stages, becomes a reality, that Further Ed will decide to make a permanent home in that building.

Vice Chairman Laverne Wilson outlined the area covered by the Further Ed Council, and introduced Coordinators Gladys Drobot, Elk Point, Marie Zayac, Heinsburg, and Diane Parenteau, Fishing Lake. 'Schools provide an education for youngsters, but some of us missed out' on newer aspects such as computer skills, Wilson noted. 'Education is life-long learning.'

Guest Speaker Rollie Saville brought congratulations from Alberta Advanced Education on the opening of the facility 'where people can come for whatever they need in Further Ed.' Saville noted that Elk Point was one of the first communities in Alberta to have a Further Education Council, back in 1973. The Further Ed movement has grown to serve almost 400,000 participants per year across the province.

MP Deborah Grey applauded the encouragement Further Education gives to those wanting to continue

Town prepares for election

Preparations for the October 16 General Municipal Election were discussed by Town Council at Monday night's regular meeting. An advance polling date of Tuesday, October 10 from 1:00 to 4:30 p.m. was set, with location to be the Elk Point Public Library. Arrangements for an institutional vote and appointment of election officers were also made.

Next Monday, September 18, is Nomination Day, and it was noted that if insufficient nominations are filed on that date, additional nomination days will be held for up to five days until the required number of nominations are filed. No further word has been received to press time on persons intending to throw their hats in the Council ring.

Taxes roll in

An 'Absolutely phenomenal' 88.1 percent of Elk Point's 1989 taxes have been brought into the Town's coffers already, Administrator Pat Vincent told a pleased Town Council at Monday night's meeting. Taxes in arrears are minimal, with $8943 one year overdue, and one $3005 tax bill more than a year overdue. The Town's total tax roll is in excess of $707,000.

Water woes again appeared on the Council agenda, with study of the terms of reference for a water supply study, and progress reports on pumping and flushing projects. Flushing of the Town's water lines was completed Monday, while pumping of water from Hook Lake will commence toward the end of the week, once the crew now removing beaver dams from Atimoswe Creek has completed their work and sufficient water has been sent down the creek to wash it out before pumping into the reservoir is started.

The final piece of sidewalk construction for 1989 was also finished Monday, with lengths of pipe installed at several lo-

School Board

VanMaarion to run again

Janice VanMaarion has indicated she will be seeking reelection to represent the Town of Elk Point as a trustee on the County of St. Paul School Board. Ms. VanMaarion says that even though the workload with the School Board has been heavy, as she served on all School Board sub-committees, she still finds the work enjoyable and personally rewarding.

With obvious accomplishments such as the totally revamped Elk Point Elementary School and the greatly improved school playground facilities, Ms. VanMaarion has been instrumental in several key policy changes that has allowed our school to operate smoothly and efficiently. Nomination for the October 16 election must be filed on September 18.

It's Magicadabra!

Many people in this world have some pretty strange jobs, but Murray Hatfield has one of the strangest.

You see, it's Murray's job to cut people into little pieces, float them in the air, and make animals and birds appear and disappear. Murray is an illusionist, and he is bringing his hour and a half long illusion show, 'The MAGICADABRA Show,' to F. G. Miller High School, Elk Point, at 7:00 p.m. on Friday, September 15. The show is sponsored by the Elk Point Public Library.

When asked what he likes best about his rather unusual occupation, Murray replies, 'I think my favorite part of this job has got to be the opportunity to travel and meet new people. I have toured across Canada and in Israel, Cyprus and Germany, and have had some incredible experiences that I will never forget. I have also met some of the greatest people you could ever hope to meet. Things like that make me very lucky to be able to do this.'

When asked what drew him to a career as a performer he said simply, 'When I stand onstage and look out at people's faces and see them smile or gasp or applaud, I know that there is nothing else that I would rather do.'

If you would like to see this talented young man and his most incredible show be sure to be early...so you can experience the impossible.

(Please note that the Magicadabra Show is designed for school age children, teens and adults, and may be too advanced for very young children. However, they will not be turned away at the door.)

Tickets are available at Dave's Pizzeria and at the Elk Point Public Library.

Now You See It, Now You don't!

Popular illusionist Murray Hatfield is bringing his Magicadabra Show to Elk Point Sept. 15. Hatfield is a captivating performer and has toured through Canada and internationally.

Elk Point Bridge opening video

A fifteen minute video cassette of the 1950 opening ceremonies of the Elk Point Bridge is being produced by the Elk Point Historical Society.

The Society has in its possession two 78 RPM records containing speeches by dignitaries and a seven minute film of the day's events. There is an immediate need for photographs of the bridge ceremonies and even perhaps of the crossing before the bridge was completed. Such photos are needed to "stretch" out the film to equal the length of the sound track.

If anyone has suitable photographs, please contact Michael O'Neill at 724-3044 before this weekend. Photographs will be returned within 2 weeks.

Information on who made the film is also needed so that they may be included in the credits.

The video cassette should be completed in a week or two with a copy being donated to the Elk Point Library video cassette collection, so that the public has access to it.

Chamber back in session

A small group of Elk Point Chamber of Commerce members met September 6 to review the summer and to start planning new projects for fall.

The Chamber's Canada Day Pancake Breakfast was deemed a success, with approximately 750 people enjoying the meal of pancakes, ham, juice and coffee.

The Elk Point Class of '64 Reunion was held that same weekend, and Millie Orr reported that the Chamber's $100 donation went toward purchasing enlargements of the photos of students and teachers attending the reunion as a souvenir of the occasion for each.

The Chamber's Tourist Information Centre was in operation from June 30 to August 31, and had over 400 signatures in the register. Visitors came from as far as West Germany, France, Norway, England, Kuwait, Australia, New Zealand, Argentina and Brazil, as well as from numerous parts of the USA and Canada. While the total number of visitors appears small this year, this could result from not having a column in the register this year for 'Number in Party' as had been done other years, when the totals included those who were with the people signing the register.

One vacancy on the executive was filled and another opened at the meeting. Donna Brooker offered to fill the post of Secretary, which became vacant in June with the resignation of Gail Kozicky, for the balance of the term. Vice President Bill Tremblay has tendered his resignation as of the end of September, when he will be leaving Elk Point. A new Vice President is needed to take over at that time.

With Information Night coming up on September 21, the Chamber discussed their participation in the event. Victor Stepa and Bill Tremblay volunteered to man the Chamber's table, which will offer information on the Chamber and its activities.

The Chamber meets again on September 20.

A petition presented to the Town Administrator asking for a bylaw preventing the overnight parking of large vehicles in residential areas was studied by Council. While the document was found to have deficiencies which rendered it ineligible for consideration as a petition, it was accepted for information purposes, and Council will attempt to resolve the issues which concerned the petitioners.

Planning for the utilization of the Municipal Recreation Tourism Areas Program grant funds has been put in the hands of the Elk Point Recreation Board, which will hold a special meeting to prioritize the projects before the next regular meeting of Council. The Rec Board has already allocated $18,000 for projects at the Recreation Land which were proposed for 1989 but were eliminated by budget cutbacks, including development of a parking lot. Input from other groups is being incorporated in the priority setting.

Council ratified a recommendation from the Rec Board to hire a Recreation Aide on a temporary basis, until a permanent position for joining of Recreation and a Community Services Coordinator is established by the FCSS Boards into a Community Services Board.

Editorial

Who's running?

That's the question of the week—who will throw their hats in the ring for the October 16 election?

The rumor mills are running overtime, but most of the people who so-and-so says are 'running for sure' are bogged by the very idea, and declare that they haven't the faintest intention of doing so. Even the incumbents are still undecided whether to carry on for another term. Possibly they are just opening the way up to encourage new faces to appear around the Council tables, by declining to say whether their names will appear with those of the newcomers on the ballots.

They have only a few days left—five, including today—to make their decision—and so have you, Mr. or Ms Citizen. Will you take a part in determining the future of your community, from a seat in public office? Or are you willing to settle for a short-handed council, and maybe (perish the thought!) another by-election?

Monday will tell the tale.

Help make news

As the first golden leaves appear among the summer green, and the first frosts nip gardens in the bud, the annual fall resurrection of clubs, groups and organizations gets underway.

One item on the first-meeting agenda of many of the groups is the election of a new slate of officers. Way down on the list of required personnel is often the title of 'Club Reporter' or 'Publicity Chairman.' This is a position often left until last, at which time those left unelected say 'That's not important,' 'Why bother?' and 'I can't do that,' with the result that the position goes unfilled and the world never knows what goes on in that organization, except for major events.

Publicity is important to the growth and development of a club. It shows the role that organization plays in the community, lets the public know about upcoming events, and maybe even ferrets out some new members who read the report and say, 'Hey! that sounds like an interesting group to be involved with.'

It's not usually a big job—a few minutes a month are probably all that is required to write a few paragraphs highlighting the upcoming events, and how those which have taken place recently were enjoyed. You don't need to keep track of who moved what, or whether the financial report was approved—that's for the minutes. What you want to tell the public is that you initiated three new members, that your bake sale was a great success, and that you are planning a to-boggan party for community youngsters. Keep it brief and interesting.

Doesn't sound so bad, does it? Why not make sure that news of your group's activities gets around? Volunteer your services—it's much easier than being on the fundraising committee!

Alberta Trails

There's got to be a way

By Irene Magnusson

When you come to think of all the things that have been invented, all the problems solved, to say nothing of the cures for this and that that have been dreamed up, and how easily they sent men to the moon - and look at that space craft they sent out, just lately flitting off past Neptune or whatever, still going strong - why, there really has got to be a way.

The way I'm thinking of at the moment is a way to get rid of those unsightly, unlovable, undesirable, cotton-picking, so-called 'fairy rings'. Only a few little white toadstools, you say, hardly worth mentioning. Kind of cute, when they first come up, there in the nice green grass, you say - very soft, you wouldn't trip over one. But you could slide in a patch of them, and they look much less attractive and cute after a week or so in the lawn, when they start to turn black, and slimy, or brown and squish.

It's my belief we pay far too much attention and give too much time, effort and money to things that don't matter at all - such as sending a man to the moon - and far too little thought and expertise to the really important things in life, such as how to rid our lawns of these pesky squirts of fungi. For example, how many people have nightmares, after wondering how to send a man to the moon?

Very few, I am inclined to answer myself. Surely not more than a few hundred, in all of the world, would give a second thought to it. Yet there must be untold millions, myself among them, who are sick and tired of those miserable bits of fungal growth that pop periodically and perennially out of the good earth here on MY space, in MY lawn.

And there seems to be no way to get rid of them, no way to prevent their appearance repeatedly and over and over again. I say - there's got to be a way.

It is all very well for the agriculturist and garden experts and friends and neighbors and fellow sufferers to say "no cure". Are they displaying an "If we can't lick 'em, join 'em" attitude? Aren't we all just giving up too easily?

Do you know what it says about fungi (plural of fungus) in my dictionary? A fungus, says Funk and Wagnall, is any of the Fungi group of thalophytic plants, comprising the mushrooms, puffballs, molds, smuts, etc., a soft, spongy growth. Furthermore, they are one of the subdivisions of the 'Thallophyta': non-flowering plants of wide distribution and great variety, devoid of chlorophyll, reproducing by asexual means and obtaining nourishment either as parasites on living organisms, or as saprophytes on dead organic matter. They go on to say, they are varied and have many names. One of which is the noxious 'fairy ring', flaunting its endless circles on your lawn and mine.

Surely there is a 'cure' for this? Well do I know the story the 'experts' tell, about how we are to combat this pest with soapsuds and poking and soaking. Phooey on that, say I. It does not work. Only I work - or you who spend your precious summer hours, out there coddling those tiresome pests, when either of us would much rather be doing something useful - or non-useful - but certainly not messing with those dratted mycelium, and NEVER winning.

I have a very large and productive raspberry patch, and my pea patch was not to be sneezed at - yet I spent far more hours plucking those offending fungiforms out of my lawn than I did in the berry or pea patches put together. I even carefully bagged them, and burned them. What else

Conference for coaches

The North Eastern Alberta Recreation Association, in conjunction with Wainwright Parks and Recreation, is very excited to be hosting a Community Coaches Conference and Sport Supper for coaches and sport club administration in North Eastern Alberta and surrounding areas.

The Conference is scheduled to take place Saturday, September 23, 1989, preceded by the Sport Supper on Friday evening September 22, 1989. An anticipated 100 coaches from across the zone and surrounding areas are expected.

The main purpose of the Conference is to expose coaches and sport club administrators to experts in various areas of interest. Eleven concurrent sessions divided into four main topic streams have been identified and will be presented during Saturday's conference.

Always a valuable offshoot to a conference of this type, is the opportunity to draw area coaches together to informally share ideas and opinions which may also provide them with useful new insights to take back to their athletes.

We are attempting to keep the delegate costs to a minimum; charging $20.00 per person for the Sport Supper and $30.00 per person for the Conference which includes the Sport Supper. Our rationale is that local coaches already put in a lot of time, effort and financial commitment to their athletes.

If you require further details, please contact myself at (403) 842-3383.

Yours truly,
Allan Cave, Director
Wainwright Parks & Recreation
President, N.E.A.R.A.

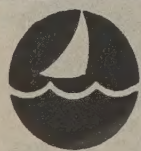

can we do with them? I'm sure no matter where you put them down, they would immediately subdivide and procreate in untold millions. How else did they get all over my yard? I suppose they hitchhiked on the lawn mower, or our shoes, perhaps on the feet of mice and birds.

So why doesn't some smart well-educated person try to figure out a way to kill these wayward critters off? And PULLEESE don't tell me about the watering bit, nor do I wish to dig up several cubic yards of earth here and there over the lawn, and carry it away - to where?

No. What I'd like to see is something new and innovative, like maybe they could be zapped with a few degrees of microwave directed into the soil, such as we use to heat our leftover coffee with. Or there may be some neutrons or protons out there, just itching to wipe out the family circle of mycelium cuddling together, killing my grass in an ever-broadening ring, for years and years on end. Some of these pests are as many as twenty years old and still expanding.

All I can see the soapsuds or detergent does is give me clean toadstools. The poking will probably net you a few spores onto your fork, and there will be a new ring wherever you pierce the soil with it again. So far, I have not resorted to plowing the whole lot up, which I've heard could be one cure. But then, I'm not sure I'm up to the business of reseeding my whole yard again. Besides that, it would probably come up to the same old fungoid pests again.

So, please Scientists, let your brain cells linger on my problem, won't you? There has GOT to be a way - And a lot more important to me than the planetesimal objects of outer space.

Hospital board nominees election

Among the offices to be filled in the October 16 General Municipal Elections are positions for seven Elk Point Municipal Hospital Board members, to represent the various areas of the large Elk Point Municipal Hospital District No. 18.

The Hospital Board is a governing body whose purpose is to ensure the highest possible standards of care and service with the resources which are available. Its role is to make decisions and measure performance. The Board's responsibilities include appointment of an administrator and medical staff, organizational planning, establishment and maintenance of professional standards for high quality patient care and safety, establishment of the hospital's community health policies, and overseeing the financial management of the institution.

The mission of the hospital is to provide services for inpatient and outpatient acute care in the areas of medicine, surgery, obstetrics, pediatrics, diagnosis and rehabilitation based on the needs of the community and the availability of resources, including emergency care, auxiliary and nursing home care, and the provision of physical facilities and material resources for use by other community based health and social service agencies which the Board feels are required by the community.

In the area of education, the hospital establishes standards of practice and patient care and continuously evaluates these, providing educational programs to improve the practices of medicine, nursing and technical services associated with the care of patients. Hospital district residents can obtain information and educational material to promote better health through the hospital.

Research into innovative ways to provide comprehensive health care services is also a part of the hospital's mission.

The Board's philosophy is based on respect for the dignity and worth of the individual, with each patient having the right to care based on his or her disease or condition, as well as recognition of the patient's spiritual needs. They pledge cooperation in coordination of hospital and community professions and occupations to help restore the patient to physical, mental and emotional health, spiritual and social well-being, a peaceful and dignified death. The Board values the contribution, professionalism and dedication of hospital staff and will contribute to the maintenance of high professional standards and expertise consistent with a high level of patient care. The Board feels the management of a hospital is contingent upon the input and advice of all employees and considers this in formulating policies and making decisions regarding the hospital.

Hospital District No. 18 is divided into seven wards, each represented by an individual living in that ward. The boundaries of these areas are as follows: Ward 1: All areas within the County of Vermilion River which are located north of the North Saskatchewan River, plus the portion which splits Range 4, Townships 55 and 56 in the County of St. Paul.

Crop report

Clearing skies early this week have given area farmers a glimmer of hope that they may at last resume harvest operations.

Consistent rainfall in recent weeks has caused serious problems with crops sprouting in the swath. Estimates of grades expected have shifted toward the lower grades, with 40 percent of wheat now expected to grade 3 CWRS and the other 60 percent to grade as Canadian Feed. Only 70 percent of barley is now expected to grade 1 CW, with the balance at 2 CW, while only 20 percent of canola is likely to grade 1 Canada, with 60 percent at 2 Canada and the remaining 20 percent at 3 Canada. Bushel weights in barley and oats are also dropping due to sprouting.

Drama Club Members needed

The Elk Point Junior Drama Club needs members and volunteers! The Club, designed for children aged 9 to 12 years, is holding an organizational meeting on Monday, September 18 at 7:00 p.m. in Room 1 of the Elk Point Elementary School.

The group was small but active during their 1988-89 season, when they designed and performed several small plays and skits, with performances held at Heritage Lodge, Elk Point Municipal Hospital, the Curling Club and the Elks Hall. The group is enthusiastic about starting a second year, and parents and members are urged to attend the September 18 meeting. Please call Dee Pankiw at 724-2250 (evenings) for more information.

CANADA - ALBERTA SOIL CONSERVATION INITIATIVE

Permanent Cover Program

We are pleased to announce the Alberta Permanent Cover Program, which will help stop deterioration of erodible marginal lands under cultivation.

The Permanent Cover Program is an important component of the $34.8 million Canada-Alberta Soil Conservation Initiative.

By taking those lands out of production and placing them under permanent cover, producers can reduce erosion and protect land for the future, a goal to which both the Canadian and Alberta Governments are committed.

This program offers financial assistance for planting perennial forages for hay or pasture, or trees for recreation and wildlife.

You can now get application forms and more information about this important program from Municipal Offices, Alberta Agriculture District Offices and PFRA District Offices.

Producers wishing to enter into long-term contracts must apply prior to December 1, 1989. Those who wish to seed forage this fall are urged to apply immediately.

ACA Fall Conference in St. Paul

By Irene Magnusson

The Fall Conference of the Alberta Council on Aging (ACA) opened in the Seniors' Centre in St. Paul, at 10:00 a.m., September 6, 1989, with Eileen Richardson, of Lac La Biche as Mistress of Ceremonies. Chairman Don McAllister of Cold Lake, welcomed the 40 to 50 persons to the gathering, and introduced John Trefanenko, standing in for John Drobot, MLA. He congratulated the seniors of the area, as being active, sharing and helpful to the community, an asset to St. Paul and area.

A sincere welcome from the Mayor of St. Paul, Paul Langevin, was extended, together with wishes for the success of the Conference. Leon Fontaine, President of the St. Paul Seniors' group, added his welcome to that of the other dignitaries, with hopes they would enjoy the facilities of the seniors' club.

Ms. Chris Lawrence, of the ACA, then covered in detail the many services directed toward the betterment of life for Alberta's Seniors, in the 22 years since the inception of the organization. She has been actively working for seniors, and attending Conferences for 5 years, in the ACA. Some of the matters the Council has engaged in are the Seniors' Consultant Program, the "Fully Alive" health and welfare concept, the Alberta Safety Council (interested in keeping seniors driving longer), Elder Abuse - protection and informing - Forums on Aging - which concerns itself with Education for seniors, Housing and Services, and Community Support, aimed at helping to keep seniors in their own homes.

An explanation of the so-called "Claw-Back" tax was offered, and a list of some of the services which have been upgraded since the ACA started concerning itself with them. Seniors are thought to now receive better services from Nursing Homes, Lodges, Home Care, etc.; the needs seem to be for more funding, better co-ordination of services, and much volunteerism.

Lawrence is a highly articulate and knowledgeable person, with the concerns of the growing senior population in the forefront of her thoughts and efforts.

Mr. Steve Fowler then spoke for Alberta Seniors' Housing Options, following reading a humorous essay on the "Survivors" (seniors), who hail from 'Before ...'. His discourse was filled with good information, of what seniors may expect from Government aid to housing in their sunset years. These options include subsidized Housing Units, Lodges, Seniors' Home Improvement grants, and the newly-proposed 'Granny Flats', only now being assessed. An interesting sidelight of his remarks was that over 70 per cent of subsidized housing is occupied by women, 10 or 12 per cent by couples, and the remainder by men. It would seem no senior need make-do with inadequate housing due to inability to pay. Brochures are available, listing the many options.

Following a delicious lunch, served by the St. Paul Senior ladies, greetings were read from Jeanne Schnell, of the Fully Alive program, and from Ed Kremen, former vice-president of the Region 2 ACA. President McAllister then spoke in detail on the activities of the group, and the goals of the programs planned for the different areas served. He advocates a 'Seniors' Advocate' be promoted for each area, that all Seniors' groups be under the ACA, with individual memberships, and mentioned again the 'banner', now in production, which will promote the Pioneer's role in the progress of our country.

A group from AGT displayed a number of telephones, now available, some with amplifiers, which could be of great help to seniors with hearing impairment, and answered a spate of questions concerning costs, uses, etc.

Mona Romanchuk of the Northeast Alberta Health Unit, spoke on "Wellness", as it applies to the older person, asking for a definition of her audience's conception of the word. Various replies concluded it to mean being in a state of mental, physical and emotional good health, all of which having a bearing on how we see ourselves, whether we are young or older. Being a senior need not mean we are ill, or any of the depressing and debilitating conditions we often think of as being a part of the aging process. The usefulness of the Fully Alive program was discussed, together with solitary or group physical activity. All were thought to be useful.

Mary Woytenko briefly outlined the problems of public transportation found in the town of Athabasca, and the effort made by concerned citizens to alleviate it, with small success.

Sid Holthe, member of the Senior Citizens' Secretariat, outlined his role, as part of the Senior Citizens' Advisory Council, for that group. His part in the formation of the Regional Boards, ACA, in northeastern Alberta and the writing of the By-Laws for these, has covered a period of some years. He is also involved in many other volunteer activities, pertaining to seniors.

Announcements of a Local Forum in Cold Lake, October 9, 10:00 a.m. in the Seniors' Centre, and the Regional Meeting in Elk Point, November 7, at 10:00 a.m., both for Seniors, closed the day.

This little pig went to ...

By S.D. Pelech

Lately, when we are in the garden, I hear my husband muttering, "We should get a pig. I hate to see all these bean plants, corn stalks and cabbage plants going to waste."

Now, I too deplore the garden waste, but, unlike some people, I remember the last time we ventured into the pig business.

A few years ago when we were dining on hamburgers, I decided that we could add variety to our diet by buying a pig for the freezer. My husband was not adverse to the idea so we headed to the Auction Mart.

We returned, driving slowly and carefully with, my husband assured me, two very pregnant sows. He explained how we were eventually going to have a freezer full of meat at minimal cost, but it was going to take a little time. The big pigs would have little pigs and the little pigs would become weaners and we would sell them, thereby recouping the price of the sows. Put that way, it sounded almost reasonable.

We took the pigs to the farm, unloaded them into a pen and named them Sugar and Pricilla. We sat back and waited for the blessed event. We waited and waited.

As I watched the contented sows happily eating their expensive feed, consisting mainly of shredded dollar bills, I asked my husband, "What makes you so positive that they are even pregnant? What if they are laboring under a misconception and only think that they are pregnant?"

But long after I had given up any hope, the two sows finally did produce ... Sugar, nine, and Pricilla, eleven, giving us a total of twenty-two pigs.

In due course, after oil rubs for sunburn, teeth pulling and expensive injections, the little pigs became bigger pigs and were weaned.

I was delighted and said gleefully to my husband, "The little pigs are now weaned. So, now we sell them, right?"

"Wrong," he replied. "The price of pigs has dropped, so now we will keep them until they are feeders; bigger pigs, more money."

The sows, meanwhile, had settled back to regain their pre-piglet weight and enjoy the attention of my husband and children who were making pets of them.

When the sows had regained their rotund figures, I said to my husband, "The sows are now fat and ready for slaughter. Now, we butcher, right?" "Wrong," he replied, shocked. "Those pigs are now pets. They're part of the family."

The children wailed, "They are our friends. We would never eat them."

We couldn't eat the pigs. It didn't make economic sense to keep them for pets so we compromised with a wonderful solution. We would buy a boar, breed the sows then sell them because bred sows are worth more money than unbred ones.

We bought a male pig and named him Joe Whang. We now had twenty-three pigs and the prospects of putting pork in the freezer was as real as ever.

In fact, we never did butcher any of them. The little pigs were too small, the sows were too familiar and Joe was big and old and quite frankly, smelled funny. We eventually sold them all at a considerable loss.

So, let the garden waste pile up where it may. I will not be coaxed by reason, crafty subterfuge or logical rationale into embarking again into the days of swine and ruses.

EVEN THE MOST ORIGINAL MASTERPIECE COSTS LESS THAN 5¢

ELECTRICITY: AN OUTRAGEOUSLY GOOD BARGAIN!

If you set out to wow the world with the world's most wow hairdo, don't worry. No matter how long it takes you, it'll only cost pennies to create.

You can operate a blow dryer for just six cents an hour, a curling iron for less than a cent an hour.

And, when it comes to looks, look at these bargains: a 275-watt sunlamp runs for under two cents an hour, a 1100-watt clothes iron for about six cents, and a 6,000-watt clothes dryer for about 35 cents an hour.

In a day and age when the cost of just about everything seems so high, electricity is still a great bargain.
